Dear Exhibitors, Visitors,

a year ago, I noted that we had to plan our work in a "turbulent period," and that the international economic environment had not been offering a stable reference point for that. What was then only a suspicion has now become a certainty. In this demanding situation, the market's key players bear an even greater responsibility than before to face the challenges and seize the opportunities available.

Here at Hungexpo, we feel that responsibility. As the regional market leader, it is our duty to support those who are looking for the way forward, even amid difficulties, such as the companies that wish to present themselves; that are seeking partners, investors or customers; that believe in the power of personal meetings; and that remain steadfast in their confidence in success.

We are looking forward to an exciting and eventful year: for the exhibitions in the first months (AGROMashEXPO, FeHoVa), most of the spaces are already sold out. The grand meetings of Hungarian agriculture, as well as the angling and hunting communities, will be the most important thematic events in Central and Eastern Europe this year again. TRAVEL+, the BUDAPEST BOAT SHOW and the CARAVAN SALON remain one of the main guides for those who want to travel and relax. For the seventh time in 2026, SIRHA Budapest, Central Europe's largest food industry and HoReCa trade fair, will bring together the region's most significant hospitality professionals and gastronomic experts to share their experiences and present the latest innovations to each other and to the specialists. Year after year, our CONSTRUMA and HOME DESIGN exhibitions show both the general public and professionals where Hungarian construction stands, and where industry players see opportunities for progress. MACH-TECH, INDUSTRY DAYS and AUTOMOTIVE HUNGARY are international business meetings that have been bringing together participants from different sectors for years. Created on the basis of our partners' experiences and needs, we will once again organise ENVIRONTEC in the autumn, because we believe that environmental protection is the key to a sustainable future.

The entire history of Hungexpo is about development and encounters. That is why I am glad that we can meet you again in 2026, and I believe that our exhibitions will allow us to identify growth opportunities together.

CEO, HUNGEXPO Ltd.
